

Charter Schools in Queens

2025
2026

There are 33 charter schools operating in Queens, serving 17,500 students—currently 7% of all K to 12 public school students in Queens attend a charter school. Queens charter schools serve a greater percentage of Black students than their district counterparts. Queens charter students are achieving at significantly higher rates than the borough's district students.

1 in 14

public school students in Queens attends a charter school

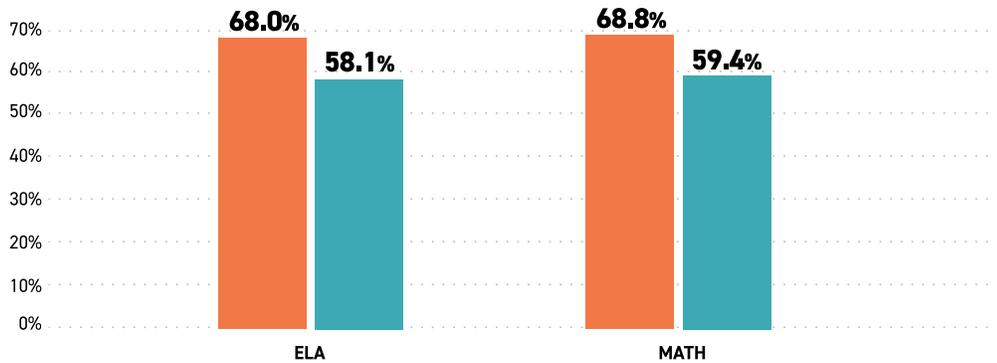

58%

of Queens charter schools have been open for at least a decade

Students at Queens charter schools achieve higher rates of proficiency in both ELA and Math than their districts counterparts.

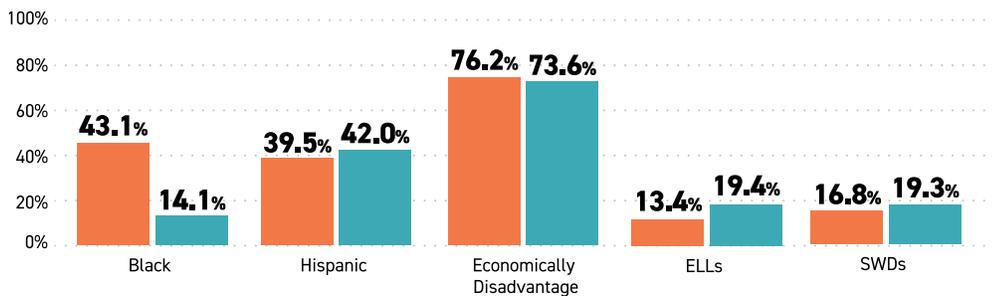

Charter DOE

Source: NYSED Public School Assessment Data 2024-25.

Queens charter schools serve 3 times the percentage of Black students than their district counterparts.

Charter DOE

Source: NYSED Public School Enrollment Data 2024-25.

30% of Queens Charter School Students Pay Rent

There are nearly 5,000 Queens charter students who don't have access to facilities funding. These students' per-pupil funding has to be diverted from the classroom to pay for the buildings in which they are being educated. Students in these underfunded charter schools receive more than $5,000 less per-pupil than district students.